

BAHAMAS PUBLIC FORECAST

FORECASTS FOR THE BAHAMAS, ISSUED BY THE BAHAMAS DEPARTMENT OF METEOROLOGY AT 6:00 A.M. EST, Tuesday, December 2, 2025, FOR TODAY, TONIGHT AND THE NEXT SIX (6) DAYS. THE NEXT SCHEDULED FORECAST WILL BE ISSUED AT 12:00 P.M. EST.

WARNING IN EFFECT:	There are no public warnings in effect at this time. For additional marine information see our Marine Forecast at met.gov.bs
GENERAL SITUATION:	A high pressure system is slowly being pushed southeastward across the country. Mild temperatures, a gentle to moderate breeze and a few passing showers are occurring over most of the area. Meanwhile a stationary frontal boundary near the Northern Islands is generating a moderate to fresh breeze over the above mentioned area. Outlook: A weak cold front will move into the Northern Bahamas on early Wednesday, generating a few isolated showers across the area before stalling and weakening across the Central Bahamas by Thursday. In its wake, high pressure will once again build over the area, restoring mild and more stable conditions across the Northern, Northwest and Central Bahamas ahead of the weekend. An Atlantic trough is migrating westward and is forecasted to pass through the Southeast Bahamas on Wednesday and Thursday bringing showers and thunderstorms to these Islands.
SPECIAL WEATHER NOTES:	Rip Current Risk: There is a moderate to high risk of rip currents along Atlantic exposed shorelines for ALL AREAS ; therefore, beachgoers and swimmers should exercise caution.
