| WARNING IN EFFECT:     | Mariners can view our Marine warning on the Marine Forecast on our webpage met.gov.bs.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| GENERAL SITUATION:     | A stationary front along with a mid-level trough is generating showers and thunderstorms across the Central and Southeast Bahamas. Meanwhile, high pressure is dominating the weather across the Northern Islands. The deep Atlantic low that is supporting the front continues to propagate moderate to large sea swells throughout the archipelago.                                                            |
| SPECIAL WEATHER NOTES: | Coastal Flooding: Motorists and pedestrians are advised to exercise caution while traversing coastal roads along Atlantic exposures, due to moderate to large sea swells.Rip Currents: There remains a moderate risk of rip currents along Atlantic exposed shorelines for all areas. Beachgoers, swimmers, and pleasure craft operators are urged to exercise extreme caution in these areas. |
